Contested Election Case.

F The testimony in this case was resumed yesterday before the examiners, Messra, Messick

John Rogers sworn-I was Republican return inspector of the Seventh division of Third ward at the last October election; Mr. Thompson, the Democratic inspector, took the tickets; the votes were taken in very rapidly during the first and second hours after the opening of the polis; Mr. Devitt kept the list of taxables; I could see the faces of the voters during the first hour; as fast as men came up to vote Mr. Thompson cried "All right "and taking the tickets placed them in the box; very few examinations were made regarding their right to vote; I have lived in that neighborhood thirty-five years, and in that division ever since it has been a division; several of those voting I had not seen before; several were challenged, but ronotice was taken of the challenges; no vouchers were produced by the voted the full Republican ticket la that division.

Cross-examined-There must always several hundred people voting in that division who are strangers to me, but not so many as

Philip M. Sbultz sworp-I have lived in the Seventh division of the Third ward nine years, and in that vicinity about thirty-five years; I had the outside window-book at the last October election; I was there when the voting began; the votes during the first and second hour were taken so last that I could not always fir the names as rapidly as the persons voted, and sometimes the name was aunounced so low that I could not hear it; when I asked them to repeat the names they would sometimes do so, and sometimes would not; I could not check off the votes as fast as they were given; at one time there were three or four hands in the window at once; during the second bour a lot of strangers came to vote, and I was pushed away from the polls; I did not who they were, but have since heard that they were New Yorkers; twelve or fifteen of them voted in that hour: I knew better than to interfere with such a crowd; I gave the book to another man, and came up town to look for assistance; I could not find the Chief of Police. the Chief of Detectives or the District Attorney I returned to the polis, and in about a quarter of an hour the District Attorney arrived; the same party returned in the afternoon, in equads of three or four, and voted; they bad a regular system; the names would be taken from the window-book, and written on a piece of paper, and handed out to the strangers, who would then vote on the names; I made some challenges during the day, but only two of them were regarded; one man whom I chal-lenged wished to vote on the name of a man living in my neighborhood: when I challenged hey sent him to get a voucher; he re or sheriff's officers about; nobody interfered with them. Cross examined-When four or five hands were in the window at one time, I cannot say how many dropped tickets; my difficulty in finding the names on the book did not arise from the writing being bad; it was good writing; I changed my list for a printed list at one time, because I thought they were going to attempt to steal my window-book; I kept my book, and when I left the polls, at 5 o'clock, I took it with me; I did not use the printed list; there was no attempt made to take my book; the names which were handed out to the strangers on pieces of paper were written by Mr. Fletcher, who had the Democratic window book: they sometimes forgot their names when they came up to vote: I know about five or six hundred men in that division by sight, but could not say exactly where they all lived; I do not know that many by name; I did not see more than a dozen challenges made all day; I made some of them and some of the officers inside made some of them; I did not make more than four or five challenges; when I saw that my challenges were totally disregarded, I gave it up.

turned with one, but the voucher was not sworn, and he was; I objected, but they said it was too late, as the vote was in the box; one of these New Yorkers voted three times; I voted the full Republican ticket; when Fitzgerald and his party were voting, I did not see any police

The Electoral Vote.

Both houses of Congress met in joint convention yesterday, to count the electoral votes for President and Vice-President. The counting was proceeded with until the vote of Louisiana was reached, when Representative Mullins, of Tennessee, objected to its being counted. The Eenate thereupon retired to its own chamber and there decided, by a vote of 51 to 7, that Louisiana should be counted. The House came to the same decision by 137 years to 63 pays. The two houses again met in joint session and the counting was resumed. When Georgia was reached, Mr. Butler, of Massachuseits, pro-tested against her vote being counted. The Senate again retired, and, on motion of Mr. Edmunds, decided that the objection to the vote of Georgia was not in order-yeas 31, pays 26. During the absence of the Senate, the House, by 150 yeas to 41 nays, Messrs. Baker and Hawkins, Republicans, voting may, decided that the vote of Georgia should not be counted. that the vote of Georgia should not be counted. The Schate returned, and the joint convention was a third time called to order by Senator Wade, who announced that the objection of the gentleman from Massachuseits had been overruled by the Senate. Mr. Butler rose to a point of order, but the presiding officer would not recognize him, nor admit any points or appeals, but directed the vote of Georgia to be counted. A scene of great exottement and confusion followed, which was terminated by Speaker Collax rising and directing the Sergeaut-at-Arms to arrest unruly members, LOrder Speaker Collax rising and directing the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest unruly members, lorder being restored, the electoral votes were announced, being 214 for Grant and Colfax, and Seymour and Blair 80 votes, or, excluding Georgis, 71 votes. The Senate then retired. Speaker Collax took the chair, and Mr. Ruther offered a resolution protesting and Mr. Butler offered a resolution protesting against the counting of the votes of Georgia as against the counting of the votes of the rights a gross oppression and miraction of the rights of the House. The Speaker made a statement that in his opinion the President of the Senale acted properly under the joint resolution which had been adopted in regard to Georgia. A long debate followed, but the House adjourned without acting on the resolution.

NOTICE.—THE UNDERSIGNED would call the attention of the public to his
NEW GOLDEN EAGLE FURNACE.
This is an entirely new heater. It is so constructed as to at once commed disell to general favor, being a combination of wrought a.d cost from. It is very simple in its construction, and is perfectly airtight; self-cleaning, having no ripes or drums to be taken out and cheaned. It is so arranged with upright flues as to produce a larger amount of heat from the same weight of coal than any fornace now in use. The hygrometic condition of the air as produced by my new arrangement or evaporation will at once demonstrate that it is the only Hot Air Furnace that will produce a perfectly heatiny atmosphere.
Those in want of a complete Heating Apparatus would do well to call and examine the Golden Eagle.
